

More people are planning to emigrate from Honduras than ever before

Across Central America, plans to emigrate have increased substantially since 2010

